

TEXAS STUDENTS WIN 2012-13 SIEMENS AWARDS FOR ADVANCED PLACEMENT Siemens Foundation Recognizes Kensen Shi of College Station and Haotian Wu of Sugar Land for STEM Achievement

ISELIN, NJ, February 6, 2013— Kensen Shi, a senior at A&M Consolidated High School in College Station, and Haotian Wu, a senior at Clements High School in Sugar Land, today were named the Texas state winners of the 2012-13 Siemens Awards for Advanced Placement, a signature program of the Siemens Foundation administered by the College Board. The awards recognize the nation's top achievers in Advanced Placement Program® (AP®) courses in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) with a $2,000 college scholarship to one male and one female student in each state. Two national winners (one male and one female) are also recognized, each receiving a $5,000 scholarship. This year, 101 high school students in all 50 states – including 93 seniors and 8 juniors – were honored.

“We commend this year’s Siemens Awards for Advanced Placement winners on their hard work and dedication to STEM subjects, and we thank the teachers, parents and schools who supported their scholarship,” said Jeniffer Harper-Taylor, president of the Siemens Foundation.

“We are proud to join our partners at the Siemens Foundation in recognizing these exceptional students. Today’s award-winners have the foundation to achieve great success in some of today’s most exciting, innovative careers,” said David Coleman, president of the College Board.

KENSEN SHI
