

ABOUT KELLY ROWLAND

The hit-making process is second nature to four-time GRAMMY-winning singer / songwriter / actress, Kelly Rowland. A global pop star since the age of 16, Kelly grew up in the spotlight as a member of Destiny's Child, one of the best-selling groups of all time. Her powerful voice a key ingredient in the group's awe-inspiring list of chart-toppers and dance floor smashes — including four No. 1 singles in the U.S. and more than 60 million albums sold worldwide — Kelly Rowland has blossomed into a stunning solo artist who has winningly collaborated with hip-hop heavyweights (Lil' Wayne, Nelly), international producer-DJs (David Guetta, Alex Gaudino) and sought-after songwriters / producers (Rico Love, Ne-Yo, Salaam Remi, Rodney Jerkins) alike.

As a solo artist, Rowland has released four successful studio albums – “Simply Deep,” “Ms. Kelly,” “Here I Am” and her most recent, “Talk A Good Game (June 2013)” – selling more than five million records. The talents which contributed to the monster success of Destiny's Child and which were showcased on Kelly's first forays as a soloist, such as the 2002 GRAMMY Award winning song “Dilemma (with Nelly),” have been further evidenced by her gold and platinum solo albums and hit songs including, “Like This (with Eve),” “Stole,” “Breathe Gentle (with Tiziano Ferro),” “When Love Takes Over (with David Guetta)” and “Motivation (with Lil' Wayne),” which have topped music charts all over the world.

Kelly's beautiful voice and effervescent personality have not only garnered her critical and commercial success in the music arena, but her movie star good looks, unique style and limitless drive have also generated numerous opportunities in television, film and fashion. In the early 2000s, Kelly guest starred on several hit sitcoms including Eve and Girlfriends and made an appearance as the legendary Martha Reeves on the NBC docu-drama American Dreams. This led to starring roles for her in the feature films Freddy vs. Jason (2003) and The Seat Filler (2005). And in 2009, she co-hosted a competition show on Bravo, The Fashion Show, alongside Isaac Mizrahi. Kelly's on-screen presence is undeniable and this led television impresario Simon Cowell to tap her as a judge for the immensely popular shows, The X Factor (UK) in 2011 and the US version of The X Factor, which premiered its third season in September, 2013.

Although Kelly Rowland has a long list of accomplishments and accolades under her belt, she shows no signs of slowing down and feels that she has so much more to offer. "I'm very confident in everything that's going on around me now," she says. "I've been in this business long enough to have a track record that says I have something to contribute, but the key difference now is that I feel more in control. It's a great feeling."