Jason Roberts

New-Zealand born, New York City-based Jason Roberts got his start as a top executive chef in Australia and after a successful stint, moved to television.

He hosted a daily cooking show on Australia's Channel 9 for four years before making his initial breakthrough in the United States with several appearances on talk shows in 2003, notably "Good Morning America."

Jason has published two cookbooks, "Elements" and "Graze: Lots of Little Meals Fast" and filmed an award-winning cooking show pilot in the U.S. He's also served as the global brand ambassador for iCook®.

Today he is a correspondent for ABC's "The Chew" and makes regular appearances for events such as The Fabulous Food Show.

As the spokesman for BODYKEY by NUTRILITE™, Jason hopes to help people lose weight for good and turn their health around.

"Eating right, exercise, and BODYKEY™ are going to be the key to your success," Jason said.
