IGT'S SPINNING REELS AND TABLE GAMES GO ALL-IN FOR NEW JERSEY'S REAL MONEY WAGERING MARKET

LAS VEGAS – SEPTEMBER 24, 2013 — Real money wagering in New Jersey just got hotter as International Game Technology (NYSE: IGT) today announced it will offer its thrilling library of content to online players across the Garden State. IGT will be serving top performing gaming content through its award-winning Remote Game Server™ technology. The games will be served to multiple licensed operators in Atlantic City to be provided in turn to their players throughout New Jersey. Today's announcement, made at the Global Gaming Expo, solidifies the company to serve players in legalized markets while utilizing the power of its core business to create significant value to customers.

More than 50 percent of the casino floors in Atlantic City feature IGT games. IGT is in the premium position to offer those same great games, like Siberian Storm, Treasures of Troy, Wolf Run, Game King Video Poker, and more, to the online real money wagering market for players throughout New Jersey.

"Other companies have announced their move to real money wagering in the U.S. but none offer IGT's great library of content," said Eric Tom, Executive Vice President of Global Sales. "We create authentic, casino entertainment experiences in land-based casinos, online and across mobile devices; there are no gaps in our offering. IGT is poised to take a leadership position in the real money wagering space simply because our games outperform most of the other game content currently online and in land-based casinos."

"IGT already has a proven track record in the regulated, for-wager markets in Europe," said Adam Krejcik, with Eilers Research LLC. "We believe IGT is well positioned for the next decade and beyond to serve their customers in Europe and newly regulated markets such as New Jersey."
