

COPPERTONE Sport® AccuSpray™ Sunscreen SPF 15, 30, 50 and 70

From Bayer HealthCare

COPPERTONE® Sport with patented AccuSpray™ technology offers superior broad spectrum protection so you can fully enjoy the benefit of being active outside. It stays on strong and protects even when your skin is more vulnerable to UV rays – when you sweat. It even rehydrates the skin when you apply it.

The unique AccuSpray technology delivers a continuous spray you can control for coverage you can be confident about. With an innovative, aerodynamically designed spray that helps deliver protection where you want it, AccuSpray™ transforms your sunscreen experience by combining the convenience of a spray with the controlled coverage of a lotion. This sophisticated delivery system from the #1 sport sunscreen brand is designed to help reduce mess and waste.

- Targeted and accurate spray technology allows you to adjust spray direction for customized coverage, with a narrow spray dimension for smaller areas, such as your arms and hands, and a wide spray for larger areas, such as your back
- Controlled spray helps provide even coverage, with targeted application
- Designed to help cut down on mess and waste while offering a fast, efficient, and confident spray application experience
- High performance, durable formulas
- Stays on strong when you sweat; won't run into eyes and sting
- Water resistant (80 minutes)
- Photostable, superior broad spectrum UVA/UVB protection
