

1969 Porsche 911E

Restored by Rob Dickinson and TRE Motorsports in Los Angeles, California.

This machine marks the genesis of the Singer Vehicle Design philosophy - optimizing a 911 using elements of both past heritage and future evolution.

Built as a personal project for mixed road and track use from a '69 911E.

It draws inspiration from the British "cafe racer" motorcycle scene, California hot-rod culture and the great Porsche road/race cars like the 911R, 911ST, Carrera RS and RSR.
