

Barbara Terry – Bio

Barbara Terry is one of the most sought-after automotive experts and a nationally-known author, columnist and TV/radio host. She has appeared on the cover of Kiplinger's Magazine, has been featured in over 100 publications and has made more than 1,200 television and radio appearances since 2006, including Fox Sports, The CBS Early Show, Inside Edition, NBC, ABC, FOX, CBS, The Tony Danza Show, CNN, Maxim Radio, Oprah Radio, ESPN Radio, iVillage, SPEEDtv.com and many others.

Over the past decade, she has written a weekly auto advice column for the Houston Chronicle, has written for Examiner.com, First30Days.com, Men's Fitness Magazine, the New York Daily News and wrote a chapter in "The Experts Guide." Additionally, Barbara owns and operates her own competitive off-road race team – "Barbara Terry Racing."

She has 15+ years of experience and continues to keep the ball moving, writing a hit book that features 40 celebrity athletes and their amazing car history, "How Athletes Roll." She even launched her own publishing company – "Waldorf Publishing."

Barbara has interviewed hundreds of A-list celebrities and professional athletes, such as Sugar Ray Leonard, Rusty Wallace, Arnold Palmer, Michael Strahan, Bruce Jenner, Mike Piazza and Tony Dorsett to list a few.

The youngest of six older brothers growing up in Texas, Barbara has always been one to venture outdoors – hunting, fishing and gardening. She refers to herself as an "old soul," spending her free time cooking in her mountain home right outside of Seattle. She is also closely tied to animal and homeless charities.
