Choose the level of warmth you need from among these Squall options and more:

Squall Jacket

Born in the early '80s, the Squall Jacket is the oldest member of the Squall family. It's popular due to its classic style and versatility, reliable warmth, and durable windproof, waterproof fabric. While there have been enhancements and detail updates through the years—this year included with the addition of 360° reflectivity to help keep you visible at night—the signature features have remained. The Squall Jacket is available in men's ($99.95-$109) and women's ($99.95) and kids' ($99.95).

Squall Stadium Coat

Its longer length, plus 150-gram insulation provides plenty of protection from those cold stadium benches. The waterproof, windproof nylon shell and two-way zipper closure with rip-grip storm flap block out the elements. Available in men's ($199.95) and women's ($209-$229).

Squall Parka

Lands' End is the official outfitter of The Weather Channel® and the Squall Parka is exactly what the on-air meteorologists wear as they cover dozens of storms across the country each season. In fact, the on-air meteorologists spent 652 hours out in storms, field-testing the Squall Parka. After 32 days covering severe weather, The Weather Channel crew gave Lands' End feedback, making the Squall Parka even better. The Squall Parka is available for men ($179-$199), women ($159-$179) and kids ($109-$112).

Squall 3-in-1 Coat

The warmest option is truly three coats in one. The warm, quilted inner jacket can be worn as a stylish carcoat. The windproof, waterproof shell makes a great raincoat. Zip them together and the Squall 3-in-1 coat is perfect for winter weather. Great on their own, even better together. Available in women's ($279-$299) and kids ($159-$162). For men, the Squall System outerwear pieces provide a variety of 3-in-1 coat options. Designed to be versatile and personal, the Squall System Shell zips over four different linings for flexible weather protection all year round. Wear just the waterproof, windproof shell in mild weather. Zip in heat-trapping T-200 fleece when it gets chilly. Add an 800-fill power down vest or jacket to make it blizzard-proof. The Squall System Shell is $149-$169 and the four linings range from $49.95-$169.

The Lands' End Squall collection even protects the family dog. The Dog Squall Jacket is an ideal barrier to the elements, made with a water-resistant nylon outer shell for wind, rain and snow protection. Plus, it has a full lining of soft, warm, anti-pilling and antistatic poly fleece ($29.95-$34.95).
