

Global Icon Malala Yousafzai to Headline APACMed's MedTech Forum in Singapore

SINGAPORE, July 29, 2024 – APACMed is thrilled to announce that Nobel Laureate and global icon Malala Yousafzai will take centre stage at this year's MedTech Forum, taking place on September 5th and 6th at the Suntec Convention Centre. This highly anticipated event focuses squarely on Artificial Intelligence (AI) and how it's revolutionising the entire healthcare landscape.

Malala Yousafzai, renowned for her courageous advocacy for education and women's rights, will join an impressive lineup of game changers, including Tom Lawry (unconventional thought leader), Matthew Luhn (master storyteller), Dr Brent James (healthcare systems innovator) and Associate Professor Tam C. Nguyen (AI research specialist). This global lineup of speakers will address how AI is future-proofing healthcare, transitioning from digital to intelligent systems that promise more personalised and effective patient care.

“To celebrate our 10th Anniversary, we wanted our forum to be truly innovative,” said Harjit Gill, APACMed CEO. “Patient outcomes are affected by many factors - mental, physical and social - which is why we’re bringing together different perspectives from a diverse braintrust of speakers. It’s more holistic and very much in tune with the ‘whole person approach’ to the patient journey in a new era of intelligent healthcare.”

Key features of this year’s MedTech Forum include:

- Dialogue Dens: Themed discussions that dive deep into the role of AI in transforming healthcare, providing a platform for sharing best practices and innovative ideas.
- Marketplace: A showcase of cutting-edge technologies and solutions from leading innovators, giving attendees firsthand access to the latest advancements in healthcare technology.

This year’s forum is set to be a milestone event, offering unprecedented opportunities for learning, networking, and exploring how AI can unlock new frontiers in healthcare.

With Malala Yousafzai joining the ranks of distinguished speakers, the event is poised to inspire and challenge attendees to envision a future where intelligent healthcare systems drive significant improvements in patient outcomes.
