“The 2013 Detroit auto show could be the most exciting auto show of the year,” said Jack R. Nerad, executive editorial director and executive market analyst for Kelley Blue Book. “Car fans worldwide are eager to catch a good look at the all-new 2014 Chevrolet Corvette, and the 2014 Cadillac ELR Coupe, based on the Chevrolet Volt, will become the first extended-range electric vehicle from GM's luxury division. Meanwhile, Infiniti will debut its new Q50 replacement for the G37, and Lexus will add a new IS into the entry-level luxury mix. On the concept front, Honda's Urban Vehicle Concept should give us a good idea of what the future small crossover production vehicle will look like, and the BMW 4 Series is another precursor of a production vehicle. We detail all of this and more in our comprehensive coverage of the 2013 Detroit Auto Show on Kelley Blue Book's KBB.com.”
