TRAVELOCITY WEB SERIES ROAMS TO BOGOTA, COLOMBIA

LET'S ROAM HOST, COURTNEY SCOTT EXPLORES LA CANDELARIA AND ANDRES CARNE DE RES

SOUTHLAKE, Texas – November 19, 2013 – In Travelocity's latest Let's Roam Colombia with Avianca episodes, host Courtney Scott travels to the largest city in Colombia, the capital city of Bogota. In the first of two episodes, she follows Saturday night revelers from Bogota to a small town called Chia, where she learns how Colombians experience La Rumba (the party) at the famous venue, Andres Carne de Res.

"It's one of the most unique nightlife experiences in the world," said Courtney Scott. "Part circus, part steakhouse, part art gallery, you just have to see Andres to believe it."

Next, Courtney spends a lazy Sunday in La Candelaria, the oldest neighborhood in Bogota, making stops at Plaza de Bolivar, Plaza Del Chorro de Quevedo, Café Color Café, and numerous handicraft shops, before stopping for a traditional lunch of ajjaco soup.

Roam along with Courtney and her fellow traveler, the Roaming Gnome, every Wednesday at 11:00am ET when a new Let's Roam webisode premieres on Travelocity's YouTube Channel. Join the conversation using the hashtag #LetsRoam.
