

Sandra Lee

Sandra Lee, a multi-Emmy® and Gracie award-winner, is an internationally acclaimed expert in all things lifestyle. Sandra is the Editor-in-chief of Sandra Lee Magazine and sandralee.com. As the host of multiple hit television shows on The Food Network, HGTV and The Cooking Channel, Sandra became a household name, and her user-friendly approach connected to broadcast audiences in 63 countries. She is also frequent guest on the nation's highest rated morning, daytime and entertainment magazine programs.

In May of this year, at age 48, Sandra publically shared her breast cancer diagnosis and urged women to take charge of their health by getting screened. She took this message to all of her personal and professional platforms, which was recognized by Congressional Families Cancer Prevention Program. They honored Sandra on Capitol Hill with the Excellence in Cancer Awareness Award in September. She is committed to continuing her advocacy through Stand Up To Cancer and Susan G. Komen, among others.*

Sandra is the recipient of the President's Volunteer Service Award and the Ellis Island Medal of Honor. She is a founding member of UNICEF®'s Board of Directors, Los Angeles chapter. Sandra also served an extended term as the national spokesperson for the No Kid Hungry Campaign, and works nationally with Citymeals-on-Wheels and Food Banks across America. She works tirelessly with The Elton John Aids Foundation as well as God's Love We Deliver and sister affiliate Project

Angel Food. Her philanthropic passions also include work with The Central Park Conservancy.

Since 2002, Sandra has written 27 cookbooks including a memoir, "Made From Scratch" and a novel, "The Recipe Box."