Guy's Family Road Trip Episode Descriptions (2017)

Premiering Sunday, August 13th at 10pm - "The Fieris Go Griswald" – SNEAK PEEK!

Guy Fieri and his wife, Lori, and kids, Hunter and Ryder, hit the wide-open road for a classic American summer vacation: a coast-to-coast road trip in search of iconic landscapes, epic adventures and delicious eats. The first leg takes the Fieris from their home in northern California to Lake Tahoe where decadent Belgian waffles fuel a day of mountain biking. They get a bird's eye view of American ingenuity at Hoover Dam, traditional Mexican mole and homemade salsa at Guy's restaurant in Laughlin, Nevada and wind up in Flagstaff, Arizona just in time to taste the red and green chiles at the local Chile Festival. They finish it all off with a cold glass of mead brewed with local wildflower honey.

Premiering Friday, August 18th at 9pm - "Wild West Canyons and Cookouts" – SERIES PREMIERE!

Guy Fieri and his family find fresh organic chicken and roasted green chiles at a farmers' market in Flagstaff, Arizona. Then they fly through the Grand Canyon and cook up a homemade chicken taco dinner on a Lake Powell houseboat. After some quirky stops along legendary Route 66, they land in Albuquerque, New Mexico to explore America's most traditional food: "Three Sisters crops" - corn, beans and squash grown by the Native Americans of the Southwest.

Premiering Friday, August 25th at 9pm - "Remember the Lone Star State"

On this leg of the trip, Guy Fieri and his family catch classic military history at the Alamo before heading to the modern-day Lackland Air Force Base. There Guy, along with chef Robert Irvine, cook a feast of tri-tip French dip, pork tacos, spatchcock chicken and Cajun chicken alfredo to thank the troops for their service. But no good deed goes unpunished, as members of the special forces invite Guy and Hunter to skydive with them. Then the Fieris head for King Ranch to visit some contemporary cowboys and join in a cowboy cookout of smoked nilgai antelope and all the fixings.

Premiering Friday, September 1st at 9pm - "Gulf dreams"

The Fieris rise at dawn in Corpus Christi, TX to head out on the Gulf in search of snapper. Luckily the fishing is good, and they take their catch to a nearby ranch. Guy Fieri and his friends fry up the fish, along with some chicken parmesan, for an evening feast. In New Orleans, Guy searches for the perfect po'boy in the back of an off-the-beaten path grocery store, before visiting Johnny Sanchez, where chef Aarón Sánchez shows Guy how to make ceviche and a soft-shell crab sandwich. A canoe tour of the bayou followed by a festive crawfish boil round out this leg of the road trip.

Premiering Friday, September 8th at 9pm - "To Shining Sea" – FINALE!

The Fieris stop in Fairhope, Alabama to visit their friend Panini Pete and see one of the most unusual farming operations in the country: oysters! Guy Fieri and Hunter wade into the Gulf to harvest the oysters for a local pop-up dinner. Guy takes Hunter and Ryder to Punta Clara Kitchen to make old-fashioned candies from scratch before they head for Florida. There, the Fieris explore the Everglades by airboat and cook a feast of frog legs and fried gator before ending their epic adventure on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean in Miami.
