

JASON'S DELI AND MD ANDERSON CANCER CENTER PARTNERSHIP

Jason's Deli has been an avid supporter of MD Anderson Cancer Center's efforts to end cancer. The partnership was originally launched in 2013 after several Jason's Deli employees and their family members rebounded from cancer thanks to the care and expertise provided by MD Anderson Cancer Center. Since then the restaurant chain of 260 restaurants across 29 states has raised and donated more than $726,000 in support of cancer research and programs at MD Anderson.

Funds raised support the following programs in MD Anderson's Division of Cancer Prevention and Population Sciences:

- HEALTH 4 U, which will identify and test eHealth interventions to help patients with weight management through text messaging, email, wearable devices and more.
- Steps2Health, a mobile app to increase the physical activity of cancer survivors by using virtual walking tours of scenic and engaging locations, and by providing feedback and useful information that is applicable to them as cancer survivors.
- Healthy Heart Across Cancer Continuum, a model program to help cancer patients maintain their heart health throughout and beyond their cancer treatment. The program is the first in the nation and includes education of heart risk in cancer patients, surveillance and behavioral change promotion and objective tracking of clinical outcomes using cardiopulmonary exercise testing.
- Translation of patient education documents, to better serve MD Anderson's diverse patient population by translating nutrition-related patient education documents into languages most commonly spoken by MD Anderson patients. The project will support the translation of 55 patient education documents into several different languages over a two-year period.
- A pediatric survivorship booklet to address nutrition and healthy living guidelines for survivors of childhood cancers.
