Kohler, Wisconsin, USA – June 7, 2022 – Kohler continues to lead in design and innovation with the addition of the new Eir Intelligent toilet, adding to its global offering of thoughtfully designed solutions.

“Kohler has been a leader in the development of bidets, intelligent toilets and cleansing seats for decades in the global marketplace,” says Larry Yuen, Kohler Group President of Kitchen and Bath. “Utilizing our design and engineering talents from across the world, we are able to incorporate more meaningful and thoughtful functionality into our product line up and offer a more robust collection.”

The new Eir Intelligent toilet boasts a modern design softened by gentle curves and sloping profile. An optional decorative metal ring around the lid offers a unique finish accent. It features intuitive hands-free opening and closing, hygienic cleansing functionality with adjustable and customizable water sprays for complete personal cleansing. It also features a convenient one-click bowl sanitation, a heated seat for added comfort and a touchscreen remote for personalized control and the bowl is automatically misted prior to use for unparalleled flush-down clean. Eir is designed to work in harmony within its surroundings, not one that stands alone as a statement. Hidden power cords and water supply lines help simplify the aesthetic of the toileting space.
